Mr. Shaw, however, is optimistic, for he says that "the figures for the present year show that the in-DEVELOPING, PRINTING AND dustry is entering on the upward path, for although the figures for cake export show considerable diminution, the exportation of oil - which, in 1909, totalled 162,000 piouls for the whole year (an advance of 105,000 piculs over 1908)—has already, in the first nine months of 1910, exceeded 200,000 piculs. The Banishment Question.

Some little time ago in the Logislative Council H. E. The Governor quoted the Captain Superintendent of Police as au-SOUBRETTES. thority for the statement that long terms of imprisonment were more offective than short termain checking crime in the Colony, and inview of this statement in the Police Report for the year 1910 that 131 prisoners against whom pravious convictions were recorded had returned from banishment, the advisability of dealing more severely with the worst offenders would seem to be worth considering, more especially as the criminal statistics for lust your show an increase of 263 in serious offences as compared with the statistics for the previous year. We do not forget that the whole question of the growing providance of serious crime has recently engaged the attention of the Government and that an arrangement has been made with the Canton authorities securing their co-operation in the effort to check it. That arrangement, we presume, is now in force, and it is to be hoped that when the criminal statistics for the year are compiled for publication it will be seen that these efforts have been attended with markedly satisfactory regults.

China Coast Conditions

Unfortunately, the conditions of trade in this part of the world have caused many good officers and engineers to seek employment in other parts, and the shortege of desirable men to fill up gaps, brought about in the natural course of events, has been for some time pust only too apparent. Those who have gone to other of the globe have. generally found the condimuch better that PAUL DOMMIER & CO. fow, if any, have returned, and what the representatives of those who remain on the China Coast now ask is that the terms of their employment, as to leave and pay; shall be put upon a basis in keeping with the terms which prevail elsewhere. A noteworthy feature of the petition is the co-operation between deck officers and engineers. This feuture gives rise to the thought that, if there is unanimity of feeling regarding a grievance, that manimity may help to develop a friendlier co-operation than has hitherto existed in relation to their work.

HONGKONG, TUESDAY, JUNE 20, 1911.

A DONATION OF CRUMBS.

Yesterday, dealing with the proposals of the Imperial Government with regard to equipment of wireless stations connecting the dependencies of the Empire, and the decision to start the same on a well defined basis, we refrained from touching on the matter from a local or commercial point of view. The action of the Imperial government amounts to a scornful disdain of the repeated representations, which have gone Home from the people of Hongkong. It would be as idle to speculate as to the reason for the exclusion of Hongkong, as to ponder why Ceylon has been left out in the cold in favour of Bombay. Utility as regards shipping could not have even entered the minds of the originators of the scheme, and, if we knew no better, we would have suggested that the toss of a coin had been reason enough for the vagaries of the Imperial Government's choice. However we are not going to fight Colombo's battle; that community is quite able to look after itself. Our concern is for Hongkong alone, and its crying need for wireless.

Signor Marconi's invention is one of the few that has created its own need; it was never missed until it was put on the market and its possibilities appreciated. Hongkong was not backward in realizing that wireless was an absolute necessity; 'its own marvel- part China Sea.' lous adaptability made it so, and as far back as 1909. His Excellency the Governor took steps to investigate the question, in conjunes, a with naval and military experts. The deliberations of this China Sea, direction unknown." assembly resulted in a report being drawn up, and on March 1st 1911 this with His Excellency's recommendations was forwarded to the Secretary of the it. There the matter would seem to rest save that at the Meeting of Council on April 20th in roply to the Hon. Mr. Hewott the Colonial Sec stary stated that there had been an interchange of confidential desuments. It really is an end so far as the man in the street is concerned. The fact that there has been an interchanging of confidential documents, documents that are presumably not to be laid before the public, is an indication to us at least that the matter will be solved by the official at home, a personage out of touch with Hongkong, and whose capabilities for judging the commercial needs of the place cannot equal in value that of men on the spot: On the showing of the Colonial Secretary the matter has been hanging fire at least eighteen months. Such a delay is criminal whore the interests of the commercial community are at stake, quarters will be illuminated at let alone haval needs. Here is Hongkong practically the terminus of | night. Far Eastern sea going traffic, through whose harbour passes much of the wealth of the Orient, without the means of dealing expeditiously with her traffic. Not because the community is unwilling but be- following appointments:-Mr. I cause the Home Government in its wisdom cannot see fit to grant Befield to be Legal Advisor, the necessary permission for the provision of adequate facilities. There can be no doubt as to the needs for the installation; the wreck | House Surgeon, F.M.S.; Mr. L of the Asia would be a complete answer to the assertion, that there P. Ebden to be a Judicial Comis none, but we have only to read the manner in which the Hon. Mr. missioner, F.M S.; Mr. M. J. Hart Hewett framed his question at the Legislative Council to see the trend to act as Assistant District Officer, of thoughts in shipping circles.

The commercial community is becoming restless" and quite as an Inspector of Mines, Perak naturally too! To see the equipment of this port minus the finest Mr. S. G. Hobson to act as Sa piece of traffic regulating machinery is appalling. It is as had as perintendent, Posts and Tele witholding the policeman from the streets of London; people graphs, Selangor, N. A FEW THOUGHTS

Broken Tempers

Removals, big or little, are always attended by disorder, and disorder waits upon broken tompers. The transference of business from the old to the new post office has not yet facilitated the delivery of the mails; it cannot be expected; rather has it dolayed their delivery, and a captious public, making little allowance, severely consures those who are doing their best to remedy matters.

Value of Prompt Delivery.

In England, such a transference would have been accomplished; without the dolay of any mails, but hero: due allowance must be made. Amusing Episodes,

It was very amusing this morning to see the clamour for letters; leurb their effervescent feelings, and private box owners finding in their lockers letters belonging to others. That is true, for in the consciously, had been transferred, and what a pandemonium! · Soldwere all at a loss to understand the confusion. Said one, not choice in his words; " I never saw such a confounded mix-up in my life." 'Twas true, there was a came the glow of a subtle humour.

Be Charitable. In all things let us be churitable; such confusion is transitmy, and in a few days, a week at the longest, our letters and parcels will, dependent, of course, on the kindness of the sea, come regularly-lot us hope a little more regularly than was the case in the old post office. Shakespeare once said "sweet are the uses of adverin the present instance, are synonymous, but how much better shall we enjoy a regular delivery after such confusion and adversity have passed? Special mention, however, is worthy of his sympathotic rendering of Bridge's "Serenade" which to the minds of many was the chef d'œuvre of the evening. The soloist was Mr. Frank Austin, a powerful baritone who sang "Land of Hope and Glory"

During the singing of the hyunn -"All people that on earth do dwell," a collection was taken and a substantial sum, which will be devoted to the Organ Fund, was realized.

HEALTH NOTES.

The Latest Medical Folly.

Following is a portion of a sonsible communication addressed by Charles Flammer of San Frans cisco to the "Outlook" (New York) and declined by that publication

"I um a reader of the "Outlook," and have just read Dr. Ledoux's article in the March 4 number on 606, I have also read Dr. J. W. Hodge's article in the current number of the "Twentieth Century Magazine" on Compulsory Vaccination in which he refers to the "Outlook's" stand on the subject. And additionally, during the past fely months, I have roud most of the urticles on health and disease 8.8. "Spandia"28rd June which have appeared in the popular magazines. I um deeply interested in this subject, and 8.8. Sithonia 26th June have spont a large part of my spare time in studying it. my object being to learn the truth

"It has seemed to me that most of the articles on health and diseaso that have appeared recently have the lendency to shroud the subject in a veil of mystery in the eyes of the layman, who knows really nothing of it and for whose benefit the articles were written. To me it is inexplicable why disease should be so mysterious, and why it is necessary to resort to medicine. drugs, serums, vaccines, etc., to restore health in a sick body. This is a subject of such transcendent importance to every one of usliving to-day, and to the future generation as well, that I thought it is not asking too much of the editor to give space in the columns of the "Outlook" to a discussion of it, and more particularly to answer the following interrogations:

"1. What is discaso? Is it not morely perverted health? And are not health and disease one and the same—not opposing forces—only in the first instance health is a manifestation of life under compatible and environmental influences, while in disease it is the opposite—health manifesting under uncongenial in influencos?

"2. Is it not reasonable to suppose that Nature, in-her-relation to the human body, works always in an orderly fashion according to certain laws, and when these laws are not violated health is the result, while when violated disease is manifested?

"3," Is it not true that we could not thrive-could not live without light, sir, food and water? And when these are supplied in the proper manner and in the proper proportions, is it not true that disease is impossible, and health alone must follow?

"4. Does not a healthy condition of the bodily tissues depend on the purity of the blood stream? Is it not food eaten that contributes most largely to the purity or impurity of our blood? And if we always ate the proper food with just the right amount of organio salts and nutriment, and were supplied with pure air would not the blood always be pure and illness be impossible? "5. Is it not true that prefectly pure blood cannot be infected by any germ, simply because it contains nothing that can sustain midrobes or germs? Do not germs thrive only in impure blood, or on tissues that are laden with waste matter-in-[967] purities that have accumulated?

> 6. Is it not a correct definition of disease to say that it is an effort of Nature to expel from the produced by errors in living, chiefly errors in eating, and should sisted-in this effort to restore the normal condition, which is health?

"7. Is it not true that the system can assimilate only organic foods and that inorganic. minoral substances are not assimilable and honce, the purification of the blood stream is inhibited rather than assisted by the latter?

"If we admit the truth of the statement that health moans following Nature's laws and disease their violation, then wo are ready for a consideration of how best to restere health when disease manifests itself. But if we dony the correctness of this attitude, how can we reconcile any other with the apparent regularity, of Nature's laws as: evidenced in the lifetime of any human being birtle, whildhood adolesconce, manhood or woman-

LOG BOOK.

A Collision in Moji Harbour.

A collision occurred in Moji harbour recently between the steamers Katori Maru and "Yawata Maru by which the former received considerable damage and Maru, which was entering from Wakamatsu with a cargo of coal, drifted across the bows of the Yawata Maru and clearing her, was, carried across the bows of the Shimonoseki ferry Sakura Maru. On finally getting clear, the colliding vessel was found to have been seriously damaged and, as she was making water rapidly it was deemed expedient to beach | 1 her off Shirikasaki. The two vessels she fould received slight temporary repairs.

E. & A. Co.'s "Eastern."

Circular Quay, Sydney, was to be revisited on May 9th for the first time since the latter part of less altogether of expense, has placed this popular vessel in a thoroughly scagoing condition, and made in my improvements which the travelling public will appreciate. She had had a nomber of new plates put in her bottem, and her rolling cheeks have been made perfect. Speed and comfort with movement reduced. to a minimum, are 'assured. The vessel's first outward voyage will to Melbourne, but Messrs. Gibbs, Bright & Co. are already notifying the resumption of the regular service by this vessel to Manila, China and Japan.

The S.S. Inveresk The str. Inveresk, from New York for Yokohama, which was as being ashore at Mozambique, is by latest advices still in the same position and there are small hopes of saving the vessel or of the salvage of the Service of Torpedo Lieutenants The Admiralty have directed that the class of service allowed for time spent as a staff-lieutenant in a torpedo school is "service, ut son." The service of torpedolieutenants at Malta and Hongkong reckons as "service," but not as "service in a ship-of-war at soa."

Rlasan Refloated

The "Nagasaki Press" of the 8th June reports:-The R.V.F s.s. Riasan was refloated on Tuesday afternoon at five o'clock and immediately left, under her own steam, for Nagasaki, arriving there at 7.45 p.m. Some of the cargo was lightered and holes were temporarily stopped by the staff of the salvage str. Oura Maru and the vessel then refloated without assistance. By 2 p.m. yesterday about two-thirds of the cargo had been discharged and the remainder will be removed by noon to-day, weather permitting, the vessel being docked this evening.
